

Abstract

A micro-particulate dry powder composition comprising a viral particle can be prepared by spray-drying a mixture of the viral particle and a stabilizing carbohydrate using an outlet temperature of no more than 60°C.